

An Example Game

The game has five stages. There is one individual stage, followed by four group stages. On this page, we show a sample of how the first stage looks like.

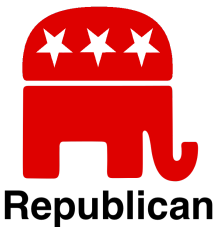

1. The Individual Stage

In the Individual stage, you will be asked to answer a factual question like the one shown below. Even if you don't know the exact answer, try your best by guessing as close as possible to the correct answer. To enter your answer you can use the slider to pick a value and then click Submit to register your response. You can take a maximum of 30 seconds to submit your answer in the individual stage.

The question below is a sample question and during the actual game, you will be asked a different question. During the game, other players will be answering the same question. Their answers will be shown to you to the right of your profile after you submit (in the second stage).

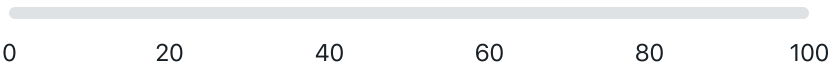

Your Profile

Other players' answers will be shown here once you submit.

What percentage of food stamp (SNAP) recipients do you believe are employed full time or part time? Please answer with a number between 0-100 using the slider.

Your current estimate is:

Submit