

An Example Game

The game has five stages. There is one individual stage, followed by four group stages. On this page, we show a sample of how the group stages look like.

2. The Group Stages

In the Group stages, you will be playing with at least one other player. You will be able to see the answers they provided in the previous stage to the right of your profile. If you want, you can change your answer to the question based upon the responses of the other people playing the game. You again should use the slider to pick your answer and click Submit to register your response. You can take a maximum of 15 seconds to submit your next answer in the group stages.
